Hong Kong Well-Positioned as Green Finance Hub

Hong Kong, with its clear and compelling advantages, is well-positioned to be a green finance hub, said Chief Executive Carrie Lam at an online symposium (Oct 23). The Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) Government has been implementing measures for the city to offer the needed financial services and capture the available opportunities. These included the launch of Green Bond Grant Scheme and the establishment of the Hong Kong Green Finance Association in 2018, and the launch of the green bond issuance program in May 2019. Later this year, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange will launch the Sustainable and Green Exchange as a first-of-its kind central hub in Asia for data and information on sustainable and green-finance investment.

FinTech Week Goes Virtual in November

Hong Kong FinTech Week 2020 will take place virtually from Nov 2-6 to allow global fintech businesses and experts from around the world to participate. The week-long event, themed "Humanizing FinTech", will explore how fintech can unlock the power of financial services to drive positive impacts for society and business. The event will comprise of five channels, focusing on the resilience and development of Hong Kong and the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, future fintech trends and finance sector growth opportunities. It will also provide a reinvented virtual event experience with artificial intelligence-powered matchmaking, live chat networking opportunities and Hong Kong cultural side events. Co-organized by Invest Hong Kong, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority, the Securities and Futures Commission and the Insurance Authority, Hong Kong FinTech Week is expected to attract more than 25,000 participants from over 70 economies and 350 speakers, along with more than 500 exhibitors and over 30 delegations.

Pilot program for Hong Kong lawyers to practice in the Greater Bay Area

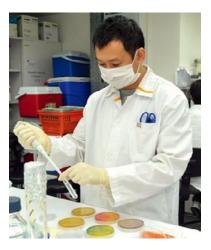

Practicing solicitors and barristers in Hong Kong can practice law in nine cities in the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area after obtaining their Mainland practice qualifications under a new pilot program announced by the State Council General Office (Oct 23). Welcoming the program, Secretary for Justice, Teresa Cheng, said the arrangement will foster the mutually complementary cooperation relationship between Hong Kong and Guangdong. She encouraged practicing solicitors and barristers to capitalize on the development of the Greater Bay Area and further enhancing Hong Kong's legal services.

Commitment to Medical Research

The HKSAR Government is committed to supporting research on a wide spectrum of health issues with a view to safeguarding public health and curing diseases. Speaking at the HKU-Pasteur Research Pole 20th Anniversary Opening Symposium (Oct 21), Chief Executive Carrie Lam said the tripartite partnership with academia and industry will create an open platform for multisectoral collaboration and facilitate the translation of biomedical innovations into commercial value and industrial impact. It will also contribute to Hong Kong's transformation into an international innovation and technology hub. In the area of medical research and to combat COVID-19, the Government has allocated nearly US$35 million under the Health and Medical Research Fund in support of some 50 COVID-19 research studies. Separately, the Innovation and Technology Fund is supporting nearly 60 trial projects focused on detection, diagnosis and surveillance of the COVID-19 virus.

Key Economic Indicators

• Overall consumer prices in September fell 2.2% year-on-year, larger than the corresponding decrease of 0.4% in August. The increase was mainly due to the rising cost for meals bought away from home and the upward adjustment in public housing rentals. Looking ahead, overall inflationary pressures should stay mild in the rest of the year as global and local economic conditions remain weak amid the threat of COVID-19.

• The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate rose to 6.4% (Jul – Sep) while the underemployment rate remained unchanged at 3.8%. With the weak overall economic situation amid the evolving global pandemic, the labor market will remain under pressure in the near term.

HKANC x HKASC Happy Hour Mixer

September 9, 2020

HKASC co-organized a Virtual Business Mixer with the Hong Kong Association of Northern California (HKANC) on September 9, 2020. Over 30 members and Board Members of both HKANC and HKASC gathered in breakout rooms and enjoyed an evening of networking and casual exchanges.

HKASC 31st Annual Members Meeting, Student Webinar & Business Mixer

September 24, 2020

HKASC 31st Virtual Annual Members Meeting was held on September 24, 2020. The new President, Wilson Tang, shared the association's activities in the past year, announced the new Treasurer, David Macdonald, along with the new Board of Directors for 2020-2022, and the establishment of the Young Executive Club chaired by Derek Ng.

HKASC is honored to have Jacko Tsang, Director, Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in San Francisco (HKETO) give an update about the work of HKETO, Hong Kong's COVID19 situation and entry requirements. Lawrence Chiu, Officer-in-Charge of Hong Kong Trade Development Council, Los Angeles, updated the programs and opportunities in the forthcoming 21st Hong Kong Forum on December 1-3, 2020.

Another keynote speaker was Bill Imada, Chairman and Chief Connectivity Officer of IW Group, shared with the audience about millennials and Gen Zs' perspectives on doing business and creating a better normal.

Dining & Culinary Experience in the New Normal

October 13, 2020

HKASC is honored to have the presence of Jacko Tsang, Director of the Hong Kong Economic & Trade Office in San Francisco, and 2 award winning chefs — Chef Tian Yong (田勇), Executive Chef of the Michelin-Starred Restaurant Bistro Na's (那家小館), and Chef Melissa King, Top Chef All- Stars Winner & Fan Favorite, Best Female Chefs in San Francisco, to share their expert knowledge and insights about the Asian and western cuisines in America, the adaptation strategy and change management of the catering business in the New Normal.

In her opening remark, Director Jacko Tsang talked about Hong Kong's reputation as a gourmet paradise, the uniqueness and popularity of the Hong Kong-style milk tea which has a daily consumption of 2.7 million cups. Also known as "silk stocking milk tea, Hong Kong-style milk tea was regarded as a Hong Kong Intangible Cultural Heritage.

Jacko also shared with the webinar audiences the web links to obtain the Hong Kong-style Milk Tea Making Technique, and the Information Fact Sheet about Hong Kong's Food Services Companies and Market.

Chef Melissa King was crowned the Top Chef 2020 Season 17. Her famous Hong Kong Milk Tea Tiramisu was one of the 4-course meals that won her the final champion in the Top Chef finale of the Bravo's cooking competition. Melissa was able to merge the food of two cultures so beautifully that her cuisines made the renowned Italian butcher and quest judge Dario Cecchini weep tears of joy. She also cooked for notable figures such as Oprah Winfrey and Al Gore.

In the webinar, Melissa shared how her family background from Hong Kong and Shanghai, upbringing in America, and her culinary studies in Europe gave her multi-faceted exposures and inspirations in her culinary creativity and entrepreneurial pursuits.

After the pandemic lockdown, Melissa has been hosting popular virtual cooking classes and corporate demos, created her brand of Asian inspired sauces that sold out within minutes, and developed her brand of merchandises online. Her success stories, competition awards, social media engagements with fans and followers continued to strengthen her personal brand as a young entrepreneur.

Chef Tian Yong is the Executive Chef of the Michelin-starred Restaurant Bistro Na's. With his 25 years of professional experience including being the Executive Chef of the Beijing Olympic Games in 2008, Chef Tian shared his humble views in offering high quality Chinese cuisines that appeal to the multi-cultural palates in western America, with an exquisite imperial palace atmosphere for fine dining.

He faced a lot of challenges and difficulties in running Bistro Na's in Los Angeles over the past few years. However he is grateful to have an excellent team of chefs and service staff who shared his values of fine dining with an ever-learning attitude.

Chef Tian shared how the restaurant's partnerships with various to-go online platforms helped generate orders and sustain customer relationships as their business transitioned from dine-in to pick-up orders during the pandemic.

Panel Discussion

Topic 2: About the Strategy & Change Management of the Catering Business in the New Normal

HONG KONG MEANS BUSINESS

The Post-Pandemic World: Sourcing Base and Product Development Expansion

During the first half of 2020, there was barely any facet of business that was not affected by the pandemic. Global supply chains, in particular, are set for a major reshuffle after the COVID 19 crisis has exposed the vulnerability of countries and companies that rely too heavily on a limited number of suppliers.

Reassessing Dependence on One Sourcing Centres

Businesses all over the world have awoken to the risks of overdependence on one production base as they experienced shortages of urgently needed items such as face masks and ventilators caused by the disruption to supply chains. These have spurred the promotion of local manufacturing in countries such as the US, the UK, Japan, and others. In short, there will be a shake up of global sourcing and a move away from some of the current mass production centres in Asia. More

The Post-Pandemic World: Digital Adoption and Market Diversification

As governments around the world try to contain the spread of coronavirus by closing their borders, implementing social distancing, and restricting the movement of people, physical events such as exhibitions and business conferences have been cancelled and global trade activities have declined sharply. Hong Kong businesses are facing unprecedented challenges.

Post-pandemic Strategies of Hong Kong Companies

From 1 June to 8 July, 2020, the HKTDC has successfully interviewed 100 Hong Kong companies from three broad categories, namely, consumer products (e.g. fashion apparel, electronics, gifts), consumer services (e.g. travel, personal finance, catering), and business services (e.g. financial services, creative industries, information technology). The survey aims to discover what challenges businesses in Hong Kong are facing in the current scenario and what they expect for the future.

The majority of respondents were of the view that they must adapt to this "new normal" by changing their business strategies. 38% of companies indicated that they are downsizing their businesses. Other proposed responses to the circumstances were 1) to strengthen digital presence (69% opted for "developing more online distribution channels" and 56% opted for "using more online marketing"), 2) to diversify into new markets (57%), and 3) to escalate technology adoption (47%). ### The Post-Pandemic World: Enhanced Technology Reliance

Technology has enabled life and work to continue through online collaboration and video conferencing, app driven home deliveries and streaming services for entertainment. Fintech is taking hold and even telemedicine, little known before the coronavirus pandemic, has begun to gain traction. With businesses adapting to the new reality and finding benefits from digitalization of work practices and operations, there will be new demands in innovation, data, business analysis and project management. Most of the companies surveyed said they appreciated technology as a force that is driving an immense transformation of customer expectations, the workforce, and the way companies are managed. However, they are less clear on how business can work with technology to create value. More

IN MEMORY

A Tribute to James Tong

James Wai Tong, Professor of Political Science at UCLA, a well respected friend of HKASC, passed away peacefully in Los Angeles on Oct. 3, 2020 after a brave battle with cerebral hemorrhage. He left behind Marita, his companion of 44 years; Olivia and Brian, 2 spirited children he is extremely proud of; 2 most spoilt grandchildren Ava and Harrison Goldstein for whom Grandpa can magically turn into a villainous, jovial pirate; also his dear siblings Victor, Nancy and Paul, niece, nephews, in-laws, and friends.

James was born on April 8, 1947 in Kowloon, Hongkong, the eldest son of Sing Tong and Lung Mo Ching. He adored his Mom and even as a child was her pillar of emotional support. She is perhaps why he ever has a soft spot for smart, strong women. He attended Wah Yan (Kowloon), which was most instrumental in molding him into the prince of a guy, exemplary scholar that he is and for his passing season as a Jesuit priest. All things, all people Wah Yan hold a special place in his heart and wallet. He also attended Ateneo de Manila, University of the Philippines, University of Washington and obtained his PhD in Political Science from University of Michigan. His dissertation, "Disorder Under Heaven: Collective Violence in the Ming Dynasty" which won the 1986 American Political Science Association Gabriel Almond Award was published by Stanford. His "Revenge of the Forbidden City" published by Oxford led to numerous occasions of him serving as an expert witness before US Congressional Committees on religious developments in China. He was editor of the journal "Chinese Law and Government," 1988 to 2020.

James taught at UCLA for 31 years after brief stints at Michigan State University and Caltech. A tireless and selfless educator, he was exceptionally generous with his time and resources to whomsoever needed them. Research problem? Matters of the heart? Career advice? Broke? Trouble with the law? Impossible parents? Talk to James; he will help. It's midnight? Call anyway. The thousands of people he has helped along the way gladden his heart and comprise a veritable secret army of faithful friends scattered across the globe. Upon learning James is in the hospital, Dr. Lee had to be dissuaded from closing his office in HongKong to fly to Los Angeles to tend to James. Such is the loyalty, devotion and friendship James inspires.

James does not smoke, drink or gamble. But as the sum of all vices is constant, he makes up for it by writing awful poetry, belting out Gilbert and Sullivan show tunes and embarrassing his children when he detains restaurant waitstaff with chit chat that have nothing to do with food ordering. Blessed with nonexistent fashion sense he supported the baggy khaki pants industry for half a century and depended on his brothers for high end hand me ups to go with his $12 hair cut (used to be $8). Ahhh... the happy autumn fields... the days that are no more...

There will be no viewing. A Celebration of His Life will be held in 2021. In lieu of flowers, James will be very pleased if you do an unexpected act of generosity in his name for some poor Hongkong graduate student.
